

There is no place where time flows more beautifully than on the romantic banks of the River Slaney in south-east Ireland. This is where you will find ARTRAMON – a special place for special people.

I would like to invite you to a place where you can relax, far away from the madding crowds of tourists – to an exclusive Georgian style house with a wonderfully warm ambience. “This is a place that breathes Ireland’s history and where the air tastes of champagne,” as my father Otto Schulte-Frohlinde said more than forty years ago, when he acquired the Irish manor and estate.

ARTRAMON IS A SPECIAL PLACE FOR SPECIAL PEOPLE.

Everybody will find their very own sense of tranquillity here, be it playing a round of golf, going horse riding or indulging in a spot of hunting. If you are looking for a little distraction, simply take a stroll along the beach. Alternatively, you might choose to visit the Opera Festival in Wexford or simply enjoy the relaxing flair of ARTRAMON. The mansion has a spacious living area of 600 square metres and offers enchanting views of the surrounding four hectares of parkland, which extends all the way to the hilly slopes along the banks of the River Slaney. ARTRAMON is a soothing balm for the soul and a source of inspiration. And if you’re lucky, farm manager Servaas might even let you in on the mysterious legend of William Pennyfeather – simply invite him over for a glass of whiskey by the fireside.

My employees and I are proud that ARTRAMON has been listed as a site of Irish national heritage. Marvel at the delightful, historic Irish architecture that nevertheless features all modern conveniences required to make your stay as comfortable as possible. There are many beautiful spots and impressive houses in Ireland, but ARTRAMON is one in a million! Come and discover its delights for yourself. Maybe you too will then become a “Friend of ARTRAMON”.

The magnificent Red Dining Room is the perfect setting for any festive occasion. The classical elegance of the room is accentuated by the exquisite antique furniture, the impressive chandelier and the spectacular views of the countryside, all the way down to the river.

MAKE YOUR TRIP TO THE EMERALD ISLE A TRIP TO REMEMBER.

The sumptuously and intricately furnished manor was built in 1770. You will notice the warmth of the atmosphere as soon as you enter the hall, which features a grand piano that is simply longing to be played. The classical style is a recurring theme throughout the manor, and each room features carefully selected interior design with a charming personal touch.

Curl up in a comfy armchair with a thrilling book borrowed from the manor’s small yet comprehensive library. Or perhaps a game of pool by the vast fireplace or an invigorating sauna would be more to your liking? Whatever it is you are looking for, there is some form of relaxation here to cater for all tastes. It’s up to you how you spend your time at ARTRAMON: simply take some time out for yourself away from everything and everyone or make the most of comprehensive services and indulge yourself with our full breakfast in the dining room. No matter what approach you take, you can rest assured that there will be a daily cleaning service and a variety of drinks on the house.

AN EXTRAORDINARY SETTING FOR EXTRAORDINARY MOMENTS.

Come to ARTRAMON to celebrate those special occasions: family get-togethers, wedding anniversaries, honeymoons, golf or horse riding holidays, hunting functions, incentives and much, much more. The estate is the perfect setting for whatever your needs may be, be it your very own, tailor-made holiday, celebrating in style, motivating your staff or simply indulging in some much-needed rest and relaxation.

A fair few newly-weds have spent their honeymoon in our “Schufro” suite. In addition to a very spacious bathroom, the suite also boasts a walk-in wardrobe, just like in bygone times.

HOWEVER BIG YOUR DREAMS, WE CAN ACCOMODATE THEM.

Artramon has five double rooms and one single. They have all been lovingly decorated in a different delightful style and all combine an air of classical elegance with practical mod cons such as free Internet access. Our “Schufro” suite offers wonderful views of the countryside in two different directions, including Wexford Harbour in the distance. The “Donnerhall” bedroom is dedicated to an icon of the German equestrian sports circuit and is adorned with numerous pictures and paintings in memory of the majestic Oldenburg stallion.

COWS IN THE BATHROOM AND THE IRISH SKY SPREAD ACROSS ITS CEILING.

The bedrooms are not the only rooms where there is evidence of attention to detail. Take the “Sophia-Gloria” suite, for example, which boasts a bathroom equipped with an old-fashioned bathtub for you to soak in while you count the cows on the wall. Unsurprisingly, the dominant theme in the “Shamrock” suite is the national symbol of Ireland, while the “Brendan” single room is all about elegance. “Frieda and Paul” was designed with fans of the charm of the 1930s upper classes in mind. Its south-facing location and spacious bathroom with a whirlpool are sure to exceed your expectations.

Ireland has many faces. If ARTRAMON has whetted your appetite, get out and explore the Wicklow Mountains, which are an absolute must. You will then see why County Wicklow is known as “the Garden of Ireland”.

IN OUR PARK, IT WILL NOT ONLY BE YOUR FEET THAT WILL SET OUT TO WANDER FREELY.

Looking for a sunny spot where you can loose yourself in a book? Itching to go on a botanical expedition? Or is your mind set on simply strolling around the four hectares of parkland? ARTRAMON offers space. Thanks to the warm Gulf Stream climate, the park is bursting with lush hydrangeas and palm trees. And in the winter, majestic camellia shrubs in pink and white will warm your heart. The parkland is lovingly tended by Frederike, our farm manager’s wife, and Joe the gardener all year round. Visit the greenhouse to discover the vines and lemon trees, stroll along the winding path all the way to the waterfall and experience Irish history at close quarters at the romantic Roche Castle. You will find enchanting surroundings to dream in, so embrace them and let your soul take flight.

OUR MOST INDUSTRIOUS WORKERS GRAZE LAZILY ON PASTURES GREEN.

You shouldn’t be too surprised to discover that the breakfast milk and the cheese at ARTRAMON is fresher than it is elsewhere. After all, ARTRAMON Farm is a flourishing dairy farm that is expertly run by our farm manager Servaas and his staff. More than 500 cows graze on lush Irish meadows on the 300-hectare farm, half of which are dairy cows that are hooked up to one of Ireland’s most modern rotary milking systems twice a day. Children holidaying here love to watch the cows being milked and stroke the little calves, or go off and seek adventure in the tree house, bounce around on the trampoline or play a spot of table tennis.

Follow in the footsteps of renowned director and Oscar winner Steven Spielberg, who came to Curracloe beach to film the D-Day landing scenes featured in “Saving Private Ryan”, and discover the rugged beauty of Ireland’s beaches.

Curracloe is just a 15-minute drive from Artramon. Go there for the beach, or to go hiking, fishing or horse riding.

18 HOLES ON THE LINKS COURSE IN ROSSLARE AND THEN OFF TO THE DOG RACES.

Ireland is quite rightly called the Mecca of golfing. Roughly a third of all dune courses worldwide are on Irish soil. And as there are nearly 4,000 golf courses in the whole of Ireland, you will find many a course easy to reach from ARTRAMON, e.g. in Wexford or the links course in Rosslare. Its not far to the famous Waterford Castle grounds, or the legendary 18-hole championship golf courses of Mount Juliet and Powerscourt. And the dog races? You’ll find them in Enniscorthy. You certainly shouldn’t miss out on this typical and fun gambling tradition. And should you be unlucky enough to lose a bet, there is always the cool ale to soothe your hot temper.

LA DOLCE VITA AT ARTRAMON. LA TRAVIATA IN WEXFORD.

What about a night at the opera with Antonín Dvorák, Georges Bizet or Kurt Weill? Taking it easy at ARTRAMON does not mean you have to miss out on a little culture every now and then. The colourful and vibrant harbour town of Wexford is just 6 kilometres from ARTRAMON and hosts the annual Wexford Festival Opera in October – not to be missed.

YOU WILL ARRIVE AS A GUEST, BUT LEAVE AS A FRIEND.

Experience Irish hospitality, something which all the staff at ARTRAMON are wholly committed to providing. How about experiencing a typical Irish evening or enjoying fresh oysters from Bannow Bay? We at ARTRAMON have a wealth of experience in organising all sorts of events and would be delighted to endeavour to fulfil your wishes. Please let us know how we can be of assistance.
